The Ironmaster Says That He Sold out Cheap to the Steel Trust—Never Received a Rebate and Had to Fight the Railroads.

United Press Telegram.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 11.—Only after a shrewd battle of wits would Andrew Carnegie admit to the Steel Trust investigating committee that the steel industry is dominated by the trust and that the day of competition has passed. The shrewd little Scotchman led the members of the investigating committee in a merry chase. Even after an extensive passage with the representatives, Carnegie was inclined to wander. Representative Duff brought out important testimony.

"Do you believe that the day of competition is over?" queried Duff. "Yes, I do," Carnegie answered. "Why has competition ceased?"

"Because the corporation's representatives have been able to all down and agreed to fix and maintain prices. This is obvious," said Carnegie.

"How can this be remedied?" was asked.

Here again Carnegie wandered. Finally he declared that the government should regulate maximum prices.

"That system has been successful with the railroads and would be a success with the steel business," Carnegie declared. "It is time that the punitive arm of the law should be invoked and the men who control the steel business should be held up as an example to railroads that they may no longer be independent of the law. It is time that we decided that ignorance of the law is no excuse."

"That is a good view," said Carnegie. "But I think morally that a man's conscience is clear who says 'I did not know.'"

Carnegie pleaded for clemency for the ignorant manufacturer. Several times he was interrupted by the committee to extricate himself, a philosophical smile saving his face. He declared that no consideration had been given the steel industry since 1890 in which he left the steel business. He asserted he had never suspected that the men associated with him were violating the law.

"Out of all the trouble," Carnegie volunteered, "a new condition will arise. There will be a new era in which all classes, capital and labor will be linked together. I believe that I want to know if Carnegie did not think that it was strange that so many men in the 90's were ignorant of the law and the ironmaster said, 'No.'"

"Don't you think that if the criminal clause of the Sherman law had been enforced some philanthropist could have established a night school to teach the millionaires that law?" Duff insisted.

"That is a violent suggestion," said Carnegie. "You might have started a Sunday school."

Mr. Carnegie was brought before the committee primarily to enlighten it on the subject of overproduction. In this respect his evidence was rather disappointing for he indicated that he made a poor bargain when he sold his steel interests to the corporation for $120,000,000.

In order to get the value of iron ore in the ground, the witness was asked to put an estimate upon this product and express and opinion whether the valuation placed upon its ore holdings by the steel corporation were excessive.

But Mr. Carnegie declined to commit himself definitely upon the subject. However, he admitted that the Rockefeller steel company had bought the Rockefeller ore deposits on royalty at from 15 to 25 cents per ton, but he said the future value of these same ore beds might have been much greater. Incidentally, he predicted that the price of ore would go up.

Mr. Carnegie was particularly emphatic in his testimony relative to the sale of the property to the United States Steel Corporation at the behest of J. Pierpont Morgan, and told the committee that he wanted to get away from the fact that he had been out for an unreasonable price.

"Had I known that the Moores were behind that option, which I made on a valuation of $25,000,000, said Mr. Carnegie, 'I never would have given it.'"

"When you gave that valuation of the Carnegie properties," asked Representative Sterling, "did you consider that the curbing power of the courts justified it?"

"Yes," said Mr. Carnegie, "and I'll tell you why. I was asked to give an option on our property by my partner, Mr. Peck. I gave an option of $250,000,000, but that did not include the H. C. Frick Coke Company, which we later included for $25,000,000, making the total $275,000,000. For such an option I demanded $2,000,000 as an earnest of good faith, and $1,000,000, my share of the $2,000,000, was deposited to my account while I was in Europe, but the other million never was raised."

Mr. Carnegie was asked about the Steel Plate Association, and other

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—New York's financial district became an armed camp today when more than $100,000,000 were moved from the Equitable building district to places of safety.

Not since Byrne's famous "Dead Line" have such elaborate precautions been taken to guard wealth—other banks "looked up."

No one would tell the value of the money being moved, but it was estimated that the Equitable National Bank across the street from the Equitable, were emptied of their funds, so that the business of the institution might be carried on in temporary quarters at 66 Broadway.

The money and securities were placed in a steel-barred express wagon in which on heavily armed private detectives rode. In front on both sides and behind the wagon as it moved through lower Broadway, were fifty uniformed police and private detectives. Immediately behind was a large automobile, packed with armed men.

Mr. Carnegie told the history of the nation from the steel business. He told how Charles M. Schwab, then president of the company, had come to him with a message from J. Pierpont Morgan, asking him if he desired to retire from business and how much he wanted for his properties.

"I told Mr. Schwab that it would depend entirely upon my partners," said Mr. Carnegie. "It was ready to go. Already I had become engaged in arduous work trying to dispose of surplus wealth, and I was willing to retire."

"We went over the estimate and considered the former option of $250,000,000. Schwab had figures to show that since that was given about two and a half years before the property had grown in value about $100,000,000. He thought we ought to add that, and I agreed with him. Mr. Morgan accepted that figure."

When asked Mr. Carnegie about the statement made by Senator Oliver that the Carnegie Company received railroad rebates, Mr. Carnegie declared:

"It is astonishing how suspected an honest corporation can be. I never received a rebate that I know of in all my life."

Mr. Carnegie told how he had fought the Pennsylvania railroad because of discrimination in rates against him, how he had interested the Vanderbilt in a project to erect a connecting road to the East, and how the Vanderbilts had "gone over to the enemy" ending the project.

Mr. Carnegie declared that, instead of the Carnegie Company, the Vanderbilt had been a matter of fact, he had forced the Pennsylvania by threats to build competing roads to agree to give him rates as low as those given competitors.

RICHESON'S ATTORNEYS PLAN

Hug.

United Press Telegram.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 11.—A sensation was created today when it was reported that Colonel J. H. Richeson was planning to go to the Supreme Court of this State and ask for a reopening of the case.

It is the purpose to file a writ of error, which if sustained will set aside the plea of guilty entered by the prisoner and the death sentence of Judge Sanderson. This action will be taken unless the executive council rescind the death sentence.

It will be contended that owing to the mental condition of Richeson he was unable to understand the nature of his plea of guilty, and that Judge Sanderson and District Attorney Pollock were in error in accepting the plea, and that the judge was in error in passing sentence without having the case go to a jury.

UNIONTOWN, Jan. 11.—The civil court grind is proceeding slowly but steadily. In the room the case of George Jones against the East Connelville Coke Company, a mandamus proceeding to secure the transfer of the property, was heard this morning but no testimony taken.

The case of George Plunk against the Johnstown Brewing Company, to recover on a bill of exchange, was not argued. The small court then took up the damage case of John Mary against the Monongahela railroad, to recover $15,000 for the loss of a leg on the part of the plaintiff's minor son, John.

Special to The Courier.

UNIONTOWN, Jan. 11.—It was learned today that Walter Probst, said to be the correct name of the man whose body was found last week in the Monongahela river near Brownsville, was of a good family and had lived a plethoric career as a sailor under many flags. Undertaker J. Henry Johnson was given papers by the county authorities showing Probst to be the son of a dead man who had been left with Conrad N. Franks of Point Marion, who identified the body.

Probst was born in Philadelphia, Pa. He had a sister, who was separated when he was 10 years old and never saw each other again. Probst served in the navy of the United States. He was honorably discharged from all.

The residents of Owensdale had a glimpse of the latest in the appearance of two strange characters who, in the "bunny race" and "bear hug" to demonstrate the latest in the appearance of the town, and only through the kindness of the town, their clothing was somewhat lost in the act of striking out.

To the accompaniment of considerable language and disregard for the proprieties of the occasion, the two proceeded to exhibit the "bunny race" and the "bear hug" and several other of the latest in the appearance of the town.

The women disappeared without remark from whence they came or to which port bound.

DISSENT MARKS PROGRESS
ON HIGH SCHOOL YEAR BOOKPrincipal Coughlin Temporarily
Removes the Record-Book.

Apparent class dissension has caused Principal Bruce T. Coughlin of High School to decide on stringent methods in the matter of a "Senior class book" this year. Some time ago the students met and elected officers for the book, and the officers, for the other side is "senior" and declare that they will refuse to support the book when it is published.

Up until yesterday afternoon the class meetings had been left entirely in the hands of the "Class President," who found himself the center of a miniature system. Not coming to be satisfied about this, the principal appealed to Mr. Coughlin, who took charge of last night's meeting.

Apparent harmony prevailed. One or two turbulent spirits rose on their dignity and tried to stir something, but were promptly "splashed" by the principal. The class president, however, stood before the session was over, for Principal Coughlin announced this morning that Manager Harry Butterworth would not be in charge of the book.

The book is an annual of the school, and the students are to be in charge of it. The book is to be published in the spring of the year.

It is said that Dan, who speaks little English, talks from Ohio and that he came to this city loaded with vengeance against someone with whom he has a grievance. Constable William Roland of Dunbar township was tipped off by Ohio people and given a description of the man.

McFarland was about 3 o'clock this morning, in front of Doyle's cigar store on Main street. He was headed toward the B. & O. station.

When questioned at the borough building, Dan was reticent. He is 45 years old. Roland had information this morning against the foreigner before the police station on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was committed to jail and taken to Uniontown.

A Hold-Up

An Oppressive Trust.

Before the Coffee Roasters' Association, in session at Chicago on Thursday, Thomas J. Webb, of Chicago, charged that there is in existence a coffee combine which is "the most monstrous imposition in the history of human commerce."

There is very slight exaggeration about this statement. It comes very close to being literally true. There is a coffee combine in Brazil, from which country comes the bulk of the coffee used in the United States, which is backed by the government of Brazil and financed by it, which compels American consumers, as Mr. Webb said, "to pay famine prices for coffee when no famine exists."

The worst thing about this is that the consumers of the United States have been compelled to put up the money through which this combine, to further cinch them, has been made effective. There were formerly revenue duties imposed upon all coffee entering the United States. Those taxes were denounced as an imposition upon the people; as taxing the poor man's breakfast table, and the like. The taxes were removed. Immediately thereafter Brazil imposed an export duty upon coffee up to the full amount of the former customs taxes in this country. The revenue which formerly went into the treasury of the United States was diverted to the treasury of Brazil. The poor man's breakfast coffee continued to cost him the same old price.

But this was only the commencement. The "valorization" plan was evolved in Brazil. Through this plan the government, using the revenues derived from the export duties for the purpose, takes all of the surplus crop in a season of large yields and holds it off the market, thus keeping the supply down to the demands of the market and permitting the planters to receive a much higher price than they would otherwise have done.

The United States consumes more Brazilian coffee than does the rest of the world. We are the best customers of Brazil, and Brazil buys little from us. Now Brazil is promoting, financing and maintaining a trust designed, and working effectively for the purpose, to compel American consumers to pay an exorbitant price for the coffee they use. What is the remedy?—Seattle Post-Intelligencer—Nov. 10, 1911.

POSTUM

is a pure food-drink made of the field grains, with a pleasing flavour not unlike high grade Java.

A Big Package

About 1½ lbs. Costs 25 cts.

At Grocers

Economy to one's purse is not the main reason for using Postum.

It is absolutely free from ANY harmful substance, such as "caffeine" (the drug in coffee), to which so much of the nervousness, biliousness and indigestion of today are due. Thousands of former coffee drinkers now use Postum because they know from experience the harm that coffee drinking causes.

Boil it according to directions (that's easy) and it will become clear to you why—

Standard statistics of the coffee trade show a falling off in sales during the last two years of over two hundred million pounds. Authorized reports from the Postum factories in this city show a tremendous increase in the sale of Postum in a like period of time. While the sales of Postum invariably show marked increase year over year, the extraordinary demand for that well-known breakfast beverage during 1911 is very likely due to a public awakening to the oppression of the coffee trust. Such an awakening naturally disposes the multitude who suffer from the ill effects of coffee drinking to be more receptive to knowledge of harm which so often comes as a result of the use of the drug-beverage, coffee.—Battle Creek Evening News—Dec. 10, 1911.

NOT THOUGHT WEST PENN WILL HAVE TO ADOPT ANY FENDERS

Record of Road in Regard to Accidents Likely to Exempt It From Any Blanket Ruling.

No word has been received at the local office of the West Penn in regard to the recent ruling by the State Railway Commission that fenders should be placed on all street cars where deemed necessary by the Commission. The ruling was the outgrowth of a recent accident at Mt. Holly, Pa., where the accident was directly responsible to the lack of fenders being placed on the car. Since the history of the West Penn company, the list of accidents have been considerably lower than any other traction company in the state. Superintendent M. A. Coffey stated this morning that he hardly thought it probable that the Commission would extend its ruling to the local company.

THURSDAY EVENING, JAN. 11, 1912.

A Complete Failure.
Andrew Carnegie has thus far been the star witness before the Stanley Committee, but he was more realistic than that enlightening aid, to the manifest chagrin of the Kentucky Knight charged with the duty of probing the Steel Trust for the special purpose of providing Democratic material for the coming Presidential campaign, he refuted the inference that the Steel Corporation was over-capitalized by declaring with emphasis that he sold the Carnegie properties for $100,000,000 less than they were actually worth.

Perhaps the most entertaining part of his testimony, however, and the part which he evidently enjoyed most, was when he told the committee how he got the best of his fellow-millionaire, John D. Rockefeller when he bought his ore properties. It is also evident that his chief regret lies in the thought that his other fellow-millionaire, J. Pierpont Morgan, got the better of him when he bought his steel properties.

Andrew is still the cunning Scot and no Kentucky Knight on horseback and in armor can ride him down. The net results of his testimony are by no means Democratic. As a witness for the Democratic party and against the Steel Corporation, he was a complete failure.

Coasting Accidents.
It is something of a shame that the Connellsville men do not have some safe and sure coasting places.

The accident of yesterday brings this question again to public notice, but not in a pleasant way. Accidents like these are inevitable so long as the boys coast on the public thoroughfares. Some streets are safer than others, but perhaps none of them are free from some danger. Any coasting crew which crosses an intersecting street in necessarily dangerous.

Connellsville needs a public playground for its children. This matter has been under consideration for some time, but no definite action has been taken for the reason that the matter was supported by words and not by deeds.

The Fayette county physicians pride themselves on the fact that they are young men. This is of course a matter for congratulation. "In youth the heart ebbs and surges; the pulses leap, the feet have wings." But with age comes greater wisdom and usually greater efficiency until, of course, the period of senility. If we must accept the theory of the profession.

No little outside assistance might have improved some self-made men.

The perambulations of Connellsville street walkers have been limited to the straight and narrow path. This law of limitation should perhaps have been laid down long ago, but now that it has been proclaimed it should be strictly enforced.

The Somerset coal operators are not spending any money in improvements this year. Perhaps they want to see more improvement in the coal trade first.

The Uniontown Herald points the finger of pride at itself this morning. It is the duty of every interpreting newspaper to let its light shine, but cause it seems that in this era of modern journalism one's continued contemporaries won't carry the lantern for anybody else.

We are often admonished to "take the bull by the horns," but the trouble is to find a bull that will stand for it.

Uniontown congratulates itself upon the fact that it escaped serious damage from fire during the past year. The fire department had better knock on wood and get more vigilant.

The Pittsburg steel interests have joined the coal and coke operators in demanding a quitable freight rate. The steel people want better rates on Lake ore. The process of equitable regulation has actually begun, and it will not be long until the task is big one.

The Irwin miner who brought his motherless baby girl to Connellsville seeking her adoption probably didn't know that Connellsville was never better supplied with babies than it has been in the past several years. Seriously, however, the case is pitiful. It suggests the humanity of a Child's Home.

The Connellsville Ironmen are earning their money these chilly but congratulatory days.

A six-year-old child is in the hospital badly burned by reason of having stood too close to the open grate. We have had occasional fatalities refer to the dangers of the open grate. It should always be screened in some manner in homes where children abide. The temptation to play with the fire is natural with children and then there is also the danger of their little skirts coming in contact with the flames.

The defunct railroads in the Pittsburg coal rate case are coming back with evidence concerning the break back, but on this proposition they will probably have to back up.

The Dunbar House water works burned up. It may sound like a physical impossibility, but it is an actual fact.

Murderer Richman is reported to be suffering from nervous indignation. We can understand why he may be suffering from nervousness, but pity for him should not produce indignation.

OUR JAIL BOARD.

By Isaac of Yulcon.

TUKON, Jan. 11.—One day last week, while grandmother Schwartz was digging for muskrat roots she turned up a peculiar brick tablet of wonderful appearance. She took it home along with a cargo of muskrat innards and showed it to the neighbors.

Upon careful examination the tablet was found to be a curious writing. It was an act of the Michigan and Fordan law giving Yulcon power to have its own Jail Inspection Board.

This was a wonderful discovery for the Yulconites. Every one gathered around to hear the mad language translated. Old daddy Jack raised both hands and exclaimed: "The lord be praised. That's what we have been looking for ever since we had a town jail. Now we may have officers with working salaries like all other towns."

The law that is due up by an old woman was quite sufficient to establish the bona fide of the discovery. Monday afternoon, a great crowd met at the court of custom to do business. The board consisted of the little Tyson, the Amer, the Sholt, the Rish and Rish-in-the-face.

The first act pushed along was that of creating a new position called the Jail Warden. To this job, they fixed the board's salary. When best is tough and requires more horse to cut it and more fire to cook it, the salary is $5,000 a year.

The board, after taking 18 ballots, agreed on Hensley O'Keefe as warden. They gave him power to name all his aids and lieutenants to guard and feed the prisoners.

Warden O'Keefe immediately appointed his wife Biddy O'Keefe, as matron and suggested a $4,000 salary for her. He then asked Patrick O'Keefe, his eldest son, for daylight jailer with a $2,500 bonus. He then looked around and saw that his son, Pionigan O'Keefe, needed a job and so he rung up that of night guard for him at $2,700.

Just then his six year old little girl came up and said: "Da da you forgot me. I want a job. I can carry water to the links in jail." This was too much for Warden O'Keefe's heart and so he gave little Bridget O'Keefe the position of water girl at $1,400 per year. Larry O'Keefe, a step-son, was given an indoor job of selling liquor on the iron doors at $2,200 the year.

The schedule was handed out to the Prison Board and was soon approved. They then instructed the warden to keep things as quiet as possible and not let the taxpayers dream what the cost is to run the Yulcon jail.

At the close of the session, little Bridget came running in and asked the board to make her salary $2,000 the year as she would have to walk so far for water.

"The house has heard the motion; any objections? If not, agreed to," were the closing words of the session.

Games Tonight.

Once more don't your champions to the great and only Billy Kummer. Not content with breaking the league's foul shooting record a short time ago with a run of 18, the Cokers plumed non again last night put the kibosh on all former marks by tossing 18 in a row, all that were called by Referee Alton. Early in the second half Kummer was attacked with a giddy spell and forced to leave the cage for several minutes. There was no other Connellsville player in uniform, Steve White and Doherty being laid up, so Billy was forced to continue. After this he tossed six fouls. Charlotte called a time out when Billy had his string at 16, the old record and it was feared he would not have a chance to pass it, only two minutes remaining. As soon as play was resumed Cavanaugh tipped the ball to Dark, whom Pelfer rode. Kummer faced off at the foul mark and shot it high. The ball dropped in without touching the rim. Later Alton called another Charlotte foul and Billy made his eighteenth one.

The game, marked by brilliant passing and shooting, was undoubtedly the most clever exhibition yet seen on the local floor. The Cokers maintained the splendid passing game that has marked their work during the past four games and before the contest had progressed ten minutes the game was well in hand. Also, without any honor taken from the shoulders of Billy Kummer, let it be said that Jacky Adams was attending strictly to business. The one kept dropping the ball through the net from the free line with perfect regularity, until his eleventh shot he made 11 out of 12 in the half. In the second half he shot 4 out of 5, totaling 15 out of 22. For the first seventeen minutes neither man missed a shot from the free line. Adams making 10 in that time and Kummer 19.

At the first whistle Dark secured the top and the Cokers passed the ball all around the backfield without being able to advance into their own territory. Jacky's first shot when he shot a foul. An instant later Dolin banked one in from the side for the third point. Kummer then shot a foul and Adams made a long one. Charlotte spurred, going to 10 with three fouls and two field goals by Dolin. Two field goals and a foul brought it up to 12 while the Cokers were making 7 on free lines. From that time on the locals forced to the front and were never headed.

Probably the most unusual play in the game has ever been seen in the Central league was pulled off in the first half with 3½ minutes to go. In two minutes, by means of the most sensational shot the Cokers made four field goals and the Charlotte one. With the score 15-11 in favor of the visitors, the fireworks began to shoot and until Adams called a time out at the 20-15 mark, the Cokers did things. Dark did the score at 13 and Kummer followed with a long one from right center. Then Dolin intercepted a pass and banked one in from the side, tying up the score at 15. Kummer got the tip and peered off another foul. Adams called a time out. Joe Cavanaugh caught the spirit of the times and put one in from the side all this in less than ten minutes. After Jacky's time out Kummer left a rush the Cokers took with more long shots but failed.

The remainder of the game was only marked by the foul shooting of Adams and Kummer and Kid Buck's dribbling and shooting. The score: Connellsville (40) Charlotte (30) Dark 11, Pelfer 10, Adams 18, Kummer 18, Dolin 4, Cavanaugh 2, Adams 4, Lott 4, Pelfer 1.

Foul goals—Kummer 13 out of 13, Adams 18 out of 22.
Referee—Alton.
Timers—Munroe and Doherty.

Basketball Notes.
"Put him the next one," called Billy Kummer, during a time-out, as those at the referee's bench exhorted him to break his own record. He missed it—not.

Any records that need broken? See Mr. Kummer.

Referee Alton was urged to call at least one more foul when the timeout was called with only two minutes left to play. He did.

There was remarkable foul shooting on both sides.

The attendance wasn't large, but the lack of numbers was made up in enthusiasm, except in the box office.

That young Bees played neatly. He had four baskets and guarded Jacky Adams wonderfully close. Dolin's four baskets in the first half were not as bad on McKel as they appeared.

Two of them were distance tries, one followed a scrimmage when several players were musing it, while the fourth was made by Dolin went down the floor on a signal which went back because the Cokers got the top, giving Dolin a clear field.

Dolin is the "find" of the season. He is the only youngster breaking into the game this season who has even made a ripple.

The league is decent this year. So far there hasn't been a single player put out of the game. 'Twas different last year.

Ed Wachter, manager of the Troy team, and a basketball man named Williams, from Cohoes, made a scouting trip through this section with a view to getting the Uniontown team to jump to the New York State League. He was told there was nothing doing.

The Cokers have won three straight. If they win tonight it will break their record for the season. Here's hoping.

"Plunger" Doherty kept time for the Cokers. A touch of lameness has relegated him to the bench. Steve White is in bed with tonsillitis.

Alton refereed a good game. Lido Johnstown, a little of that Alton stuff just suits.

The fans love to say Bill Herron. "Wild Bill" made two distance tosses and the wonder of it was that they came so close it didn't feel good.

Eighteen in a row and the season only half over. Wonder what Kummer will do before the curtain falls?

Pelfer shot once for the basket and heaved the sphere out of the cage entirely.

Jimmy Brown is not with the Cokers this trip. The industrial boy is suffering from a bent toe.

"Plunger" Doherty did the coaching stunt from the bench.

There were but ten men in uniform throughout the evening. Jimmy Brown was the missing Cherub while Steve White and Doherty did the invalid stunt for the Cokers.

Pelfer and Adams pulled off a little comedy work in the second half when the former rolled Jacky. The ball along the floor Adams was covered by Beggs but managed to roll it back to Alie Brown. Looked like punt ball.

The Cokers' eleventh mark was a peculiar shot. Kummer tried a distance shot and Dark recovered, shooting from the foul line. The ball hit the slanting upright bounced high in the air, settled on the rim of the basket and finally decided to drop through the rim of the basket.

And then they want every player to shoot his own fouls. "Take it away."

LOST CLOSE GAME.

Paint Without Oil

Remarkable Discovery That Cuts Down the Cost of Painting Seventy-Five Per Cent.

A Free Trial Package is Mailed to Everyone Who Writes. A. T. Rice, a prominent manufacturer of Adams, N. Y., has discovered a process of making a new kind of paint without the use of oil. It is called "Powderpaint." It comes in the form of a dry powder and all that is required is cold water to make a paint. It adheres to any surface, wood, stone, brick, concrete and looks like oil paint and costs about one-fourth as much. Write to Mr. A. T. Rice, Manager, 295 North St., Adams, N. Y., and he will send you a free trial package, also color card and full information showing you how you can save a good many dollars. Write today.

Baseball Notes. Manager Harry Davis will make his permanent home in Cleveland, and will make an effort to place Naperville on the baseball map.

The declaration of Manager McGraw that he intends to stand pat on the present lineup of the Giants, should shut at rest the rumor that "Red" Murray is to be given the glove.

Sacramento has signed a left-hander named Kohner, a former Santa Clara College pitcher. If he makes good in the Pacific Coast league he will be sent to the Eastern Red Sox.

Manager Fred Lake of Providence team, has done quite a lot of hot-footing during his 22 years in baseball. Starting his career on the diamond at Johnston, New Brunswick, in 1890, Fred moved up to the Boston Nationals in 1891. After quitting Boston he was with Milwaukee and Providence in 1892, Wilkes-Barre in 1893-4, Toronto, 1895, Kansas City, 1896, Boston Nationals, 1897, Syracuse, 1898, Rochester, 1899, Louisville, 1901, Nashville and Lynn 1905, Little Rock, 1906, Boston Americans, 1908, Boston Nationals, 1910, St. Louis Americans, 1911 and Providence, 1912.

With the Boxers. Bill Papke has joined the "romancers" and figures that he is still good for another crack between the ropes.

Willie Lewis will leave for Paris soon, where he has a bout scheduled with George Carpentier, who defeated Henry Lewis.

It is Cleaning Up Time, After the Rush

The Union Supply Company stores have in effect now, active clearance sales. After the great holiday rush, we find many odds and ends throughout the entire stock in every department. We also have many strong lines that are practically unbroken. In a word, we have too much stock, and our usual method of reducing stocks, is now in effect. It is a clearance sale, a cleaning out, a closing out of all odds and ends or surplus stock. It is a great time in the year to get bargains. The women's and girls' departments have many novelties; attractive coats, suits, hats and other winter garments; many of them marked down to one-half their actual value. If you have not yet bought your winter supply, now is the right time.

The Closing Out Bargains in the Shoe Department

Cover the entire stock of men's, women's, boys' and girls' shoes all sizes. In large stocks like we carry, there naturally is an accumulation of odds and ends and it becomes necessary to clean them out. The most effective way we find to do this, is to cut the prices. That has been done, the goods are all going out at great reductions in price. In addition to the odds and ends, we also have some lines that are practically unbroken. This is due largely to the slackness in business but we must sell them. We guarantee every pair of shoes we sell. If not entirely satisfactory, we will replace them or refund your money.

The Value of Each Group is Nearly Double the Price That is Made For Thursday Afternoon, Friday and Saturday

Widths range from two to eight inches and the groupings contain edges, insertions and baby sets. More important than the width is the quality. More attention was centered on the wearing quality of each piece and the result is 5,000 yards of neat, rather plain, but serviceable embroidery for undergarments, infant clothes, and children's dresses. Besides the great quantity of new pieces we've added some of our own stock in patterns that have been discontinued. The reduction is very heavy and we are pretty certain that such really good embroideries as these will be found nowhere in Connellsville—but here. On sale Thursday afternoon and the rest of the week on the Dry Goods Side.

"Semy-Mayde" Garments

Is the idea of a mother who made the dresses for her children. She found it rather trying to shop here and there for fabrics, trimmings, buttons, etc., so she conceived the plan of cutting the fabrics, selecting the trimmings, and the buttons—and all the other needed things, except the thread, and enclosing them in a bag. The purchaser needs only to state the child's age and she can choose the design that suits her fancy, in genuine, rammy, picale or washable gingham—sew it together and have a very satisfactory dress.
